

WELCOME

SEANTII Designs is a brooklyn based design and art practice. The following work explores different forms of gender-neutral jewelry designs that are strong, unique, and all hand-made. The art spans years, times, and mediums ready to adapt to any experience a user may bring.

The foundation of this practice is a combination of art, design, architecture, queer culture, and psychology. All work is rooted in a trans-embodied approach to design inspired by the trans approach to the physical body. Manipulation, reconfiguration, and transformation inspires all work and lies at the heart of each piece. This work encourages any user to combine, flip, rearrange, share, loop, twist, and explore new and unique ways to wear each piece. Chains allow for various forms of linking and attachment and should therefore be utilized as an exploratory form of bodily adornment.

SEANTII DESIGNS are internationally sold and worn. They are integrated in looks seen in Bushwick basement raves, the red carpet, and even New York Fashion Week. Follow @seantii to keep up to date on where they are seen next.
